Attached Goods Removed by Building Owner.

The goods of Isaac Hochberg, attached by Constable C. E. Macfarlane April 28, in a suit brought by Mrs. Robert Fickett, were removed Friday by order of Attorney C. A. Capen, who is owner of the building. The constable was surprised when he learned of this and reported the matter to the police and to Attorney S. B. Harvey, counsel for Mrs. Fickett and the matter is being investigated. It is not known who took the goods away but they were taken to a vacant store on Elm street. It is said that there was another attachment on the goods that had been put on before the attachment was served in the Fickett case was made. Constable Macfarlane served the attachment he put a lock on the door, thus taking possession. Mr. Capen, as owner of the building, claims that he had a right to do this as there had been no arrangement made with him by any one to have the goods stored there after the attachment and that when the rent was not paid and no arrangement made for the attached goods to remain there he had the right to enter his own property which he did he says that he has rented the store to another party.
 He also claims that the officer had no right to remove the goods and intimates that he was ready to defend his action regarding his own property if any one desired to make any trouble because he removed the lock and ordered the goods out.

Mother Seeks Custody of Son.

A hearing on the petition of Mrs. L. A. Swyden for custody of her son, Paul W., was held before the local probate court Saturday. The child has been in his father's guardianship, David P. Swyden, formerly of this city, now of Shelton, Conn., and has been cared for by the late Albert C. Whitaker of Jackson street. Mrs. Swyden alleged in her complaint that she was a mother who cared for her said child, and in fact has not supported his children for several years, and as a result of his indolent and shiftless disposition is not a suitable or proper person to care for them. Two witnesses testified in petitioner's behalf, Mrs. Swyden, who is a widow, testified in her own behalf. She testified that she was earning $17 a week in a velvet mill in Shelton, and was now able to care for the child. The petitioner was represented by Attorney P. J. Danahy and Swyden by Attorney John B. Dillon of Shelton and Attorney Frank H. Foss of this city. At the conclusion of the arguments Judge James A. Shepley announced that he would continue the case until next Thursday at which time he would announce his decision.

NON-CHURCH GOING

Scored by Rev. F. A. Sumner, of Milford, at Congregational Church.

Rev. F. A. Sumner of Milford, Conn., supplied the pulpit at the Congregational church Sunday morning and evening. At the morning service he preached a very interesting sermon to a large congregation. He deplored the tendency in these days of people who neglect the service in the House of God. He said that he was sure that the spirit of God has been laid upon you and that you are all here for a purpose in ordinary circumstances of life. Your spirit is just where your body is, behind your Sunday newspaper, or recovering from your Saturday night party, or rushing about the country in an automobile.
 People say church going is a habit. Nine-tenths of life is habit, and it is better to form good habits. Others say they do not need church. Why shut yourselves up in church when you can worship God in nature? Not one in a thousand does that who stays away from church.
 People say that they do not get anything when they go to church. What do they go for? Do they go to criticize the minister to the pulpit to the way the deacons take up the collection? This is God's house, and they say they worship in solitude. But solitary worship is but selfishness. The person who neglects the services of the church is impressing the outside world that these services are of little importance. We are here to work for the church, for the community and to help on the work of God in the world.

The carnival of St. Mary's parish, which is being held in St. Mary's hall was well patronized Saturday night. This was St. John, the Baptist, night and the program and general business was in charge of St. John the Baptist Society.

Pupils of Riverside School Entertain—Impromptu Demonstration of New Gymnasium Equipment—Norwich-bound Bull Causes Trouble—Methodist Pastor Taken Suddenly Ill.

The pupils of the Riverside Grammar school gave a very pleasing entertainment in assembly hall Saturday evening. Songs and readings and dances, old and new, also a number of games, excited lively interest. The school has recently been presented a fine gymnasium equipment by David Hale Fanning of Worcester and second to no other part of the evening's program was the passing of a hat around to the seventy-five present. In the hat were 71 blank tickets and four numbered. These four tickets were drawn by the chairman of the school committee, Edmund Jodoin, E. S. Hixcox and Miss Madeline Brennan. These four were then informed that it would be necessary for them to give a demonstration of the proper use of some piece of the new gymnasium equipment. The giant swing was chosen and it is said that the daring performance of this quartette of gymnasts was little short of marvelous.

The Bijou orchestra furnished the music. During the evening luncheon was served by those in charge.

Norwich-bound Bull Rescued From Pond.

Two men were driving five cows and two fat bulls from Central Village to Norwich where they were to be delivered to Mr. Heaton. The day was warm and the cattle were in the effects of their drive. When they arrived at Tadpole pond the larger bull bolted into the water, where he became mired in the soft muddy bottom fully 80 feet from shore, and there he would be more or less until the action of nine men who arrived from different places. Fortune favored also for a man along the state road with a big load of sawmill boards and lumber. Everybody got busy and literally built a bridge out to where Mr. Bull was foundering. He was finally rescued, as one of the drivers put it "about all in." When the drove arrived at Sylvanville the animal could go no farther. Humane Agent L. M. Gingras directed that he be put into the first barn available that he was able to proceed.

Displayed White Carnations.

Sunday, Mother's day, a great many on the streets and at the churches displayed carnations. Local florists reported the sale of thousands of white and colored carnations.

Speeding to Be Checked.

There was a continuous procession of automobiles and motorcycles over the state road Sunday. Some of them ran far in excess of the limit. Last year it was necessary to enlist the services of the state police to stop promiscuous speeding that ran over the highway. Jewett City is just midway from everywhere and automobiles going anywhere pass over the state road at this point. Some method was adopted this summer to hold up the few "smart ones" who abuse their rights and endanger life.

Had Strayed Into Woods.

George Bennett, who lives an even three miles north of the borough, was much excited Friday night over the loss of a cow. An all night search failed to disclose his whereabouts. Believing they had been stolen he called parties in the borough. After an hour their hunt was abandoned Saturday forenoon having strayed away into the woods west of his home.

Methodist Pastor Recovering.

Rev. Samuel Thatcher was stricken with God I people say am with you. Friday afternoon, which narrowly escaped being fatal. He had eaten a hearty dinner and was making ice cream for the meeting of the afternoon. He was taken extremely ill, very suddenly, and two doctors were called. He recovered Sunday, and announced at the morning service that the beloved pastor was resting comfortably and out of danger.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan.

Mr. Wolfe is known as one of the most careful drivers in the section, and it is regretted that his friends to learn that he is held in no way responsible for the accident.

Spring Blooms.

Miss Nellie Franklin and Miss Elizabeth Hodgkinson, who are strolling through the woods and fields Sunday picked 20 flowers in bloom, including a beautiful specimen of the showy orchid, Ophrys spectabilis. The flower is the orchids to appear in this section, the ladies' slipper being a close second. Other local flower-lovers found 36 plants of this orchid, averaging six blossoms each, within a square yard, in the Branch woods west of the Lisbon station, May 14, 1901.

Miss Ida I. Foster has a dozen beds of blue field violets that observers reckon by the thousand. R. M. Broom's lawn is full of another blue species dotted about in the grass. Others who have attempted their culture in home gardens have failed completely.
